LESSON ONE

An eagle was sitting on a tree resting...doing nothing. A small rabbit saw the eagle and asked him, "Can I also sit like you and do nothing?" The eagle answered "Sure, why not ?" So the rabbit sat on the ground below, where the eagle was resting. All of a sudden, a fox appeared, jumped on the rabbit and ate it.

Management Lesson:

To be sitting and doing nothing, you must be sitting very, very high up.

On a final humorous note...

An accountant is drowning – he sees his life flash before him – he then falls asleep!!!

CHANGES TO THE MINIMUM WAGE

Following the introduction of a new law, employers are now liable to make back-payments to former employees who have not received their full minimum wage entitlement.

New minimum wage from October 2004:-

- Adult workers will rise by 35p an hour to £4.85
- The development rate will rise by 30p per hour, to £4.10
- 16 and 17 year old workers will be entitled to a minimum wage of £3 per hour
- The earnings of home and piece workers will be linked to the minimum wage

A GIFT FROM THE GOVERNMENT

As announced in the Budget the government have introduced a 'Child Trust Fund' (CTF) for every child born since September 2002.

What does this mean for you?

- The government will make an initial award of £250. The amount will be higher for children in low income families and a further award will be made when the child reaches age seven (the amount is still to be determined)
- Family and friends can add further contributions of up to £1,200 a year to the fund.
- Income and capital gains within the fund will be tax free, but there will be no tax relief for contributions to a CTF account.
- The child cannot access the money, including any capital gains accumulated until age 18

TAX LIABILITIES - JOINTLY OWNED ASSETS

Any income from property jointly owned by a married couple is treated for income tax purposes as belonging to them in equal shares unless an election is made for the income to be split according to the actual proportions of ownership and entitlement to income.

The Inland Revenue are now seeking to assess dividend income received in small family owned companies according to the contribution of the owners. Thus if the shares were owned say 50:50 between spouses but the husband effectively carries out all the work, the wife's proportion would be deemed to be received by the husband for the purposes of calculating higher rate tax. The Inland Revenue are also now trying to apply this new legislation retrospectively.

For further explanation of this new legislation please contact Howard Frank & Co

TAX RELIEF ON VENTURE CAPITAL TRUSTS

One of the more positive outcomes of the recent Budget was the raising of up-front income tax relief on all qualifying investments into Venture Capital Investments (VCTs) from 20% to 40%. This means that even basic rate tax payers will get £4,000 relief on an investment of £10,000.

The tax relief is only granted if the VCT shares are held for three years and the income tax liability cannot be reduced below zero. It is recommended that when investing for tax reasons rather than investment reasons the quality of what you are investing in should be key to your decision. VCT's are complicated investments and require professional advice which Howard Frank & Co are qualified to provide.

VAT ERRORS

If during a VAT visit an error is detected, the business is liable for a penalty of up to 15% of the VAT error. This mis-declaration penalty is levied where it is accepted that the error was a mistake.

However, Howard Frank & Co, understand that there have been occasions where the VAT officer has asked a taxpayer whether they knew the error existed but did nothing about it. The reason for this question is that non-payment of a VAT debt is considered evasion and so, an evasion penalty starts at 100% of the VAT due. This can be reduced with co-operation. In serious cases, evasion can be considered criminal, which can result in a jail sentence if serious enough.

ADVERTISING EFFECTIVENESS - THE 6 GOLDEN RULES

1. Offer a key benefit- a benefit must be clear to the customer- i.e. what will the customer gain by using your product or service?
2. Make it easy to see and read - create short punchy sentences with everyday language and avoid jargon
3. Relate your benefit to the reader- use 'you' 'yours' not 'I, 'we'
4. Attract by being new- anything that is new is always interesting. Use it. Promote it.
5. Be credible- don't make unreasonable claims - prove what you say and back it up with customer testimonials, facts and figures
6. Stress the USP - Unique Selling Points - these differentiate you from the competition and create a value proposition to your customer.
What makes your business unique?

Dates For Your Diary

Many Happy Tax Returns!!

It's that time of year to complete your tax return. Here are some helpful hints to help ease you through this process

- There are stiff penalties attached to missing the deadline. A fixed charge of £100 will be imposed if you miss the final deadline 31st January 2005
- Late payment of tax – this is currently charged at 6.5% interest on outstanding tax not paid by 28th February 2005 after this date an additional 5% surcharge will be applied and a further 5% after 31st July 2005.
- When you submit a form online, your tax is calculated automatically, so you can delay submitting your tax past the 30th September deadline. However, if you owe tax of less than £2000 and you want it collected by PAYE, the deadline is 30th December 2004
- Don't forget to sign and date the form.
